

This young woman is missing.

She is one of 219 Nigerian school girls who remain separated from their families after they were abducted by Boko Haram on 14 April 2014.

I belong to Girls' Brigade, part of a family that stretches across the world. Girls' Brigade cares for girls because God cares for girls.

Did you know that six of the missing girls are my GB sisters? I continue to hope that they'll be brought home safe and sound. You have a part to play in this.

As a young person, I am asking my government to do its best to ensure that these young women are returned safely to their families.

I care about _____
I've not forgotten her name.
Have you?
